PRIMARY ELECTION BILL BEFORE THE LEGISLATURE

It Provides for Party Nominations by a Direct Vote of the People.

CAUCUS AND CONVENTION ARE ABOLISHED

State Committee Made Up of County Chairmen—State and Legislative Candidates Make Platform—Provisions of the Bill in Detail.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 29.—The La Follette primary election bill, which has been awaited since the beginning of the session of the legislature, came in last night. It was drawn and introduced in the lower house by Assemblyman Stevens of Madison. Senator Miller, also of Madison, introduced a duplicate in the senate. The bill makes ome sweeping changes in the methods of naming party candidates and the drafting of the party platforms. The changes made by the bill are as follows:

The naming of the candidate is taken from the political conventions and given to the voters of the party acting at primary elections.

The caucuses and conventions which now name the candidates and make the platforms are abolished and the work done by the conventions is now divided betwee nthe voters and the state committees of the parties.

The candidates nominated for the state and legislative offices make the party platforms.

Meets La Follette's Approval.

The bill is known to meet the approval of Governor La Follette and will be supported by his friends. The friends of the governor say that it will pass, while some of the stalwarts hold to the opposite opinion.

It repeals all existing statutes regarding caucuses and conventions, but it is specifically provided that the primary election law shall not apply to judicial, village, township, school district and special elections to fill vacanices.

It provides that primary elections shall be held for all general elections on the first Tuesday in September and for all other elections regulated by the act three weeks in advance of such elections.

All Parties to Be Recognized.

Provision is made for an official ballot for any party represented on the official ballot at the preceding general election by individual nominations which cast one per cent. of the total vote of the state. Separate nomination papers shall be circulated in each precinct where used, and an affidavit attached of an elector of personal acquaintance with the signers and knowledge that their statements of residence and occupation are correct.

Each party shall have a separate ballot under the primary law. The Australian ballot is made applicable to primary elections. In cities the primary election shall be from six o'clock in the morning until 9 o'clock at night. In all other precincts the polls shall be opened at 8 o'clock in the morning and shall be closed at 6 o'clock in the evening.

The primary election day is made a day for registration, and any registration after that day, except by the personal appearance of the voters before the inspectors, is prohibited.

Registration is not required in any election precinct where the existing law does not demand it.

Eight sections relate to challanges, form of affidavit, the returns of inspectors of elections, and canvass of votes.

It is provided that the chairmen of the county committees of the state shall meet at he state capitol one week after each primary election and canvass the votes for the state officers and congressmen. They also shall at this time, canvass the votes of the senate and assembly districts which cover more than one county.

State Central Committee.

The chairmen of the county committees shall constitute the state central committees of the various parties. In the state central committee each county chairman is entitled to one vote for each 100 votes cast by his party at the preceding national election and in city, county, and legislative committees each precinct chairman has one vote for each twenty-five votes cast by his party at such election.

The filling of vacancies in the positions of precinct and county chairmen is provided for. County chairmen at their meeting to canvass votes in the years of presidential elections are authorized and directed to choose by ballot the electors of their party for president and vice president.

Candidates to Frame Platforms.

In every precinct there shall be a party chairman, and inspectors and clerks of election shall be appointed four weeks before a primary election. The law is made imperative on May 1 next.

ADAMS AND LYON CONFIRMED.

Appointments of Erickson and Haugen Are Laid Over.

Madison, Wis., Jan. 29.—The appointments sent to the senate last Friday by Governor La Follette were somewhat unexpectedly taken up in the senate last night and the re-appointments of Judge Lyon to the state board of control, and Dairy and Food Commissioner H. C. Adams were confirmed.

Senator Whitehead moved early in the session that the vote of Friday whereby the appointments were all laid over, except that of Judge Gilson, till Wednesday of this week be reconsidered. Senator Whitehead said that unless the senate acted tonight on the appointments of Judge Lyon and Commissioner Adams their offices would become vacant tomorrow. He said that the appointments should be taken up and acted upon at once because Judge Lyon was the president of the board of control, and his signature was necessary to the papers sent out by the board.

The business of the dairy and food commission also required the signature of the commissioner, and unless those appointments were confirmed tonight the work of the departments of which the two men are the heads would have to stop. Senator Whitehead then moved the reconsideration of the motion by which the appointments were laid over, and his motion carried. This brought the appointments before the senate, and those of Judge Lyon and Commissioner Adams were unanimously confirmed.

Senator Whitehead moved that the other appointments, those of Messrs. Haugen and Erickson, be laid over until Wednesday and his motion carried.

All sorts of rumors are circulating regarding the possibility of a contest over the confirmation of the appointment of Mr. Haugen. His friends, however, assert, that eighteen senators have expressed their intention to vote for the confirmation.

"TEDDY" SLEW FEW LIONS.

Dr. Stewart Says Hunting Stories Were Largely Mythical.

Colorado Springs, Col., Jan. 29.—Drs. Webb and Stewart, who started out with the Roosevelt hunting party, returned home Sunday. Dr. Webb said: "There is absolutely no truth or foundation in fact for the sensational stories that have appeared in some of the eastern newspapers." Dr. Stewart said: "When we left the governor he was having a good time. The weather was fine. Two days after leaving Rifle the thermometer fell to 16 degrees below zero, but after that it went up a little. There was sufficient snow for the dogs to trace the lions. The stories that have been published are exaggerated. The hunt resulted in securing five lions and three lynx. One of the lions had three cubs, all of which were killed by the dogs. We saw no bears and did not expect any. The accounts that were published were false. While it is rough work, there was absolutely no risk. Roosevelt is greatly pleased, and I do not think he will leave until about Feb. 20."

Appleton, Wis., Jan. 29.—The police last night received a telegram from Terre Haute, Ind., saying that Dr. Rodermund was arrested in that city and the police want to know what to do with him. The authorities do not know whether Rodermund can be extradited for breaking out of quarantine or not. They are in a quandary as to whether they should bring him back from Indiana, exposing all the people that he would meet on the way. They are inclined to let the Indiana authorites take care of him and keep him in quarantine until such time as it can be demonstrated whether or not he will develop a case of small pox.

MRS. NATION FLAYS GOVERNOR STANLEY

"Coward, Perjurer, Lawbreaker," Shrieked the Crusader.

WORDY WAR IS WAGED

Demanded That the Governor Get a Hatchet and Help Demolish the Joints.

ALL OF KANSAS IS AROUSED

Topeka, Kan., Jan. 29.—Mrs. Carrie Nation, the temperance crusader visited Gov. Stanley in his office yesterday and pointed out what she conceived to be his duty in plain langu-Sage.he askeh him to take a hatchet age. She asked him to take a hatchet and assist her in demolishing the saloons, and when he declined, on the grounds that he disapproved of the method she said:

"Then you are dishonest and a coward. You refuse to close up the saloons by legal methods and you are too much of a coward to assist the women. You will have it said of you that the women of Kansas performed your duty for you because you were a coward."

The governor told Mrs. Nation that she was forgetting that she was a woman, and that he would have her ejected from the office unless she used better language. Mrs. Nation then asked the governor to change places with her for a week. She assured him that there would be no saloons in the state when he again took his office. The governor declined. Mrs. Nation then said:

"I suppose you see this black eye. I told one of my friends that you gave me that."

Governor Calls Her a Liar.

"You told a lie," shouted the governor, flushing angrily.

"But you did give it to me," persisted Mrs. Nation, "because if you had done your duty and closed the saloons I would not have had it. However, I forgive you, and you need not lose your temper because some whiskey seller hit me in the eye."

When Mrs. Nation entered Governor Stanley's office she was followed by a crowd of newspaper reporters and others. By turns she administered to Governor Stanley a tongue lashing for his failure to uphold the laws against liquor selling or begged him for aid to carry on her crusade. She put her questions with fierceness and answered them herself without giving the governor time to utter a complete sentence in his own defense.

"Lawbreaker and Perjurer."

Then this crusader began a philippic that caused Governor Stanley's anger to rise, and the crowd grouped about his desk to look on in wonder.

"You can close every joint in Kansas if you will, Governor Stanley," she said with force. "You can do it if you want to but you won't. But you are a lawbreaker yourself if you don't You took your oath of office to keep the constitution. You refuse my request, you are not only a lawbreaker but a perjurer."

Her Voice Quivered.

As Mrs. Nation preceded her voice quivered. She rose from her seat and looked full in the face of Governor Stanley, and pointing her finger at him called him "Lawbreaker,, and "Perjurer,, without the least show of fear. She repeated these words of accusation again and again. He tried to make a reply but she gave him no chance, the words of incentive pouring from her with a rush that would not be stemmed.

Finally his temper gone, Governor Stanley arose from his seat and shouted back. "You cannot come here and talk this way to me. You are a woman, but I won't stand it. You will have to leave."

"I am a mother. I am a grandmother and I represent the mothers of the state."

"You don't. You don't represent them," almost shouted the governor.

Asks Stanley to Help Smash.

The words flew back and forth with such fierceness that it was almost impossible to distinguish them. The room was in a nuprorar. Then Mrs. Nation talked more calmly pleading with the governor to aid her.

"You come with me and help smash saloons," she urged.

"If you won't help us, if you won't help me, I'll go around and I'll smash, smash, smash, governor. The devil seems to have a cinch on the men, but he hasn't on the hatchets and rocks."

She visited the offices of the attorney general and sheriff and repeated her demands.

PREACHER ASSAILS EDWARD VII.

Boston Minister Attacks the Character of England's Ruler.

Boston, Jan. 29.—King Edward VII., the new ruler of England was fiercely assailed as to his private character by the Rev. Franklin E. E. Hamilton, pastor of the First Methodist church, on Temple street. In the course of his criticism Dr. Hamilton said: "Unless he changes his manner of living completely, not al the purple and gold in Windsor and Buckingham palaces, not even the ancient seat of kings, Westminster itself, can hallow with true royalty that life which, through all the years has been that of a cheat, a gambler and a libertine; and it is a travesty upon the intelligence and sanctity of English people that a man whose life record has been such can be inducted joyously with the sycophantic applause of a Christian nation into the hallowed and sacred place of his godly mother. It is the glory of Queen Victoria that it was not the royalty of the throne received from crazy and dissipated predecessors that made her a great queen, but the graciousness and righteousness of a Christlike soul."

Mr. Miller said that nothing was done concerning the lease of the St. Paul by any other road. He also said that nothing was done toward affecting a closer relation with any other railroad company. As far as he knew President Hill of the Great Northern was not a stock holder in the St. Paul road.

Primary Election Bill Main Topic of Discussion Among the Solons.

ORTON TO LEAD OPPOSITION

Madison, Jan. 29.—The plan for a state electric lighting plant to light the capitol, university buildings, state historical library and state hospital for the insane was pushed along in the assembly this morning by concurrence in the senate resolution calling on the dean of the engineering college for an estimate of the cost of such a plant.

The most important bill introduced was by Lenroot in the assembly requiring corporations to file with the register of deeds their corporate name and a list of their officers, so that claimants may know whom to sue. Another bill by Lenroot proposes to increase the debt limit in cities from five to ten per cent. of the assessed valuation. Another assembly bill increases the penalty for bank robbing from five to twenty years. The assembly was asked to name a committee to confer with the Minensota legislators on vessel taxation.

The primary election bill introduced in both houses last evening was the main topic of discussion among the members today. There will be considerable opposition to it, even in the assembly and among members who are known as La Follette men. Report has it that Judge Orton will lead the opposition in the assembly.

Another provides that the time in which prisoners shall unlawfully absent themselves from prison shall not be computed on their term of sentence. The last one gives the state power to collect from relatives or estates for the care of the feeble-minded.

Senator Mills introduced a bill abolishing all tuition at any institution receiving money from the state. This affects the state university, normal schools, the common schools, the day schools for the deaf and all of the other institutions which receive any state money.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

"The Parish Priest" is a dramatic gem of the first water. Like the diamond, it sparkles no matter which way you look at it. It pleases all those who care for comedy, with situations in plenty for others to delve deeper and care for the dramatic side of life. It teaches men and women to be honorable and charitable with each other; in fact, produces a dramatic picture seldom equaled.

Mr. Sully as Father Whalen, presents a manly unpretentious Irishman, with a simple sincerity that is effective and admirable. There is no straining for stage effects, but instead, a quiet, reserved force that never fails to bring him to his reward. He is heroic without bravado; honest without saintism, and the pure artistic air of naturalness permeates his healthful play. He will be at the Myers next Thursday night.

* * *

The five famous Nosses, musical experts, will appear as members of the company supporting "Herrmann the Great" at the Myers. They give a strictly high grade musical act of a half hour's duration, during which selections from high class, but popular operas will be given. Special scenery is carried for the act, which is superbly mounted. The scene represents a public square in "Venice," and the entrance of the entertainers is made in a gondola from which the strains of a mandolin are heard. The costumes worn are very handsome, and are typical of the 16th century.

* * *

George W. Lederer's original Shaftesbury Theatre, London, and New York Casino production, "The Belle of New York," will occupy the boards at the Myers soon. This organization is the same which after a season of 250 nights of pronounced success at the Casino, New York, went to London, and for 697 performances played at the Shaftesbury Theatre, London, before the most enthusiastic of audiences.

* * *

"Sherlock Holmes," which is announced by Mr. Chas. Frohman, will be presented by one of the best of Mr. Frohman's companies. Only a few of the larger cities will be favored as the production requires modern improvements in the stage and electric lighting departments. One of Mr. Frohman's agents is here perfecting details for its staging.

* * *

A fair sized audience gathered at the Myers Grand Opera House last evening and witnessed the presentation of the play Rip Van Winkle by Thomas Jefferson supported by a superior company. Thomas Jefferson as Rip was the center of interest and his portrayal of the character was above criticism. Margaret Hayward as Gretchen was first class and kept the audience stirred up by her anger and tears, caused by the actions of her drunken husband, Rip. The balance of the support was first class. Little Edith Malifaris as Rip's daughter Minnie showed great talent.

IMPORTANCE OF GRASS CROPS.

How it is Recognized by the Department of Agriculture.

"There is no line of work more intimately connected with the agricultural interests of the country than investigations of grasses and forage plants.

Grasses are so common, growing everywhere in meadows and waste places, upon hillsides and plains, covering the bare places of the earth with their myriad hosts of individual plants, that we are apt to forget their vast significance in the economy of nature, and that they constitute the greatest of our agricultural resources, and form the very foundation upon which rests all our agricultural wealth and prosperity. According to estimates of the Division of Statistics, the hay crop of 1896 alone amounted to 60,000,000 tons, valued at nearly $4,000,000,000, exceeding by a third the total value of the wheat crop. In addition to this vast quantity of hay, which would barely suffice to carry through the year the 16,000,000 milch cows owned by the United States, enough pasturage, fodder and green forage were supplied to feed 37,000,000 sheep, 30,000,000 cattle, 14,000,000 horses and 2,000,000 mules. A conservatve estimate places the total annual value of the grass and forage crops of this country at more than $1,000,000,000.

"Among the great nations of the world ours has been the first to give official recognition to the importance of these crops by establishing in the Department of agriculture a Division of Agrostology, especially devoted to working out grass problems.

"During the past year 6,000 trial packages of seeds from collections made by the division have been distributed, more than 3,000 grasses have been identified for correspondents, and replies to more than 600 inquirers, relative to the methods of cultivation, uses, and feeding value of grasses, have been prepared."

TOBACCO CULTURE IN UNITED STATES

INTERESTING FACTS AND FIGURES SHOWING PROGRESS.

Great Strides Made in the Cultivation and Manufacture of the Seductive Weed—Columbus Given the Credit for Bringing the Plant Into Use in This Country.

Tobacco culture in the United States during the nineteenth century is the subject of an interesting article published in the century issue of the United States Tobacco Journal. It gives many interesting facts and figures, and shows what great strides have been made in the cultivation of the tobacco plant. During the first forty years of the century the industry made great strides in Virginia, Maryland, Kentucky Tennessee, North Carolina, Missouri, Ohio, and Indiana, and each of these states raised crops of millions of pounds in 1839. In 1890 the total crop amounted to 488,256,646 pounds, of which 221,880,303 pounds were raised in Kentucky, 48,522,655 pounds came from Virginia, and other states were credited with the following product:

	Pounds.
Ohio	37,853,563
North Carolina	36,375,258
Tennessee	36,368,395
Pennsylvania	28,956,247
Wisconsin	19,389,166
Maryland	12,356 888
New York	9,316,135
Missouri	9,421,823
Connecticut	8,874,924

A table in the same publication gives figures in connection with the production of cigars. In 1873 there were 15,322 cigar manufactories in the United States. They produced 1,779,946,596 cigars, and on these a tax was paid to the government of $8,899,732. In 1898 the number of manufacturers had grown to 30,856, the number of cigars produced was 4,910,937,307, and the tax on these amounted to $14,031,726.

The capital invested in the cigar business in 1890 is given as $59,517,827; number of hands employed, 98,156; wages paid, $44,767,989; and the value of product, $129,693,275.

The writer of the article gives Christopher Columbus credit for having been the first white man to note the existence in the Western hemisphere of the tobacco plant, and quotes the following from an old history on the subject:

"Although the fact has been controverted, there can be no doubt that the knowledge of tobacco and its uses came to the rest of the world from America. In November, 1492, a party sent out by Columbus, from the vessels of his first expedition to explore the island of Cuba brought back information that they had seen people "who carried a lighted firebrand to kindle fire to perfume themselves with certain herbs which they carried along with them.'"

Thus in the earliest historical notice of tobacco we find it classed as a popular perfume, and although its many other attributes have since been recognized, the delightful odor of the burning Cuban leaf is still one of its marked peculiarities. In awarding the palm to Columbus for the discovery of tobacco, as well as of America, the picturesque story of how Sir Walter Raleigh was the first to note the existence of the weed must be rejected, together with the claims of other aspirants for this honor, but surely no one will grudge the great navigator the distinction accorded him, even though it is not clear that he carried back to Europe with him any of the wonderful "herbs" he found in Cuba.—New York Tribune.

HOW BIRDS HELP FARMERS.

They Prey on Mice, Insects and Other Vermin.

"The bulletins on birds and mammals published by the Biological Survey at Washington correct widely prevalent errors as to the economic status of species that affect agricultural interests, and demonstrate the inefficiency and wastefulness of bounty laws, under which millions of dollars have been expended by the various states and territories without accomplishing the object for which they were intended.

"Birds are the farmer's most valuable aids in his life-long battle with the insects that prey on hs crops. How important, therefore, that he should not destroy them that do him greatest service. In the case of hawks and owls, the division has shown, by the examination of the stomach contents of about three thousand of these universally hated and persecuted birds, that only six of the seventy-three kinds inhabiting the United States are injurious, and three of these are so rare they need hardly be considered, leaving only three to be taken into account as enemies of agriculture. The others prey upon mice, insects and other vermin, and rank among the farmer's' best friends.

"Since its establishment, in 1885, the division has examined the stomach contents of nearly fifteen thousand birds belonging to two hundred species and sub-species, and has published information on the food habits of one hundred and forty kinds, mainly hawks, owls, crows, jays, blackbirds, sparrows, thrushes, flycatchers, swallows, wrens, shrikes, woodpeckers, horned larks and cedarbirds.—Ainslee's Magazine.

Young Mothers

Stand in special need of help while the baby is being nursed. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription not only strengthens the woman for motherhood and makes the birth hour practically painless, but it increases the nutritive secretions on which the child is fed. It soothes the nerves, encourages the appetite and rapidly restores the mother to robust health. There is no alcohol in "Favorite Prescription," neither opium, cocaine, nor any other narcotic.

"I wish to let you know the great benefit my wife derived through taking your 'Favorite Prescription,'" writes Mr. Robert Harden, of Brandon, Manitoba, Box 236. "It was a case of childbirth. We had heard so much of it that my wife decided to try it. (I may say my wife is thirty-three and this was her first child.) She commenced to take 'Favorite Prescription' five months before her child was born. We have a fine, healthy girl, and we believe that this was mainly owing to the 'Favorite Prescription' taken faithfully according to directions. We shall certainly recommend it wherever we can."

PROTECTION AND TRUSTS.

President John Bascom, of Williams college, for many years president of the Wisconsin University, has discovered the cause of what he terms trusts as well, as a remedy for what he regards as an evil. He writes like a free trade democrat, and if he ever takes the trouble to vote, it is safe to assume that he votes with that party.

President Bascom's theory is that the protective tariff is largely responsible for combinations of capial, and says that as soon as America overcomes foreign competition that its next move is to overcome home competition by consolidation of capital in trusts. He cites the Standard Oil Company, the steel and iron industries, the sugar trust, and other wealthy corporations, as a menace to "Life, Liberty and the Pursuit of Happiness," of which he sees in liberty the most essential part. He draws the conclusion that protected competition deprives men of liberty and results in death and unhappiness.

President Bascom is a high salaried theorist, standing on a pedestal of his own creation, and permitted to occupy it by the men who employ him, because they are largely in sympathy with his theoretical ideas.

He has evolved a theory on political economy that is so ideal that it is un-American, and from his pedestal, with the title of president behind him, he gains the public ear, with text books, lectures, and epistles, that poison the minds of young men and send them out into American life with distorted and unhealthy vision, to battle with its practical questions, with impractical methods.

If he were deprived of his title, and thrown out into commercial life as plain John Bascom, he would be lost in the shuffle before he struck the ground, and his advent would never be discovered.

How a man, possessed of President Bascom's inteligence and ability, can look at life through green goggles, in this era of American prosperity, is a problem that the average mind is unable to solve. From an era of stagnation and debt, caused by free trade tendencies in practice, to an era of active life, and unparalelled prosperity brought about in four short years, and largely as the result of protection to American industries, and yet the learned president croaks.

If he would stick to his text, "Life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness," and then will get down from his pedestal and put his ear close to the ground and listen to the busy hum of machinery keeping time to the refrain of the national motto adopted by the common people, "America for Americans," and then look into the faces of the toilers in every department of practical life, he will discover plenty of life, a large degree of liberty and happiness unparalleled.

If he will take a trip across the seas and visit the realm that theorists like to explore in the interests of the brotherhood of man, he will discover that American enterprise, fostered and encouraged by American protetction, has made the trip ahead of him and that the old world has taken on new life and enjoys greater liberty and more happiness as the result.

America has no time for croakers in this busy age. The question of combintaions whether of capital or capital, will regulate themselves. If they need the aid of legislation the country can afford to wait for it until a season of stagnation comes when more time and thought can be devoted to it.

President Bascom will find it easier riding with the procession than tagging along behind. He will enjoy longer life, all the liberty that he needs, and greater happiness than he thought possible this side of heaven, by getting in line with public sentiment.

MR. HAUGEN'S APPOINTMENT.

The appointment of Nils P. Haugen to succeed Col. Anderson on the board of tax commissioners, is being unjustly criticised by men and papers whose mission on earth just now is the self-appointed watch-dog mission. People who don't want to see anything fair in the new administration, and who wouldn't recognize it if they did.

If Gov. La Follette had shown any disposition thus far to reward his friends, at the expense of what these people are disposed to style his enemies, there might be some cause for complaint, but this has not been the case. For private secretary he wanted a man in whom he had implicit confidence, and who was in sympathy with him. Would any governor be satisfied with less? His feeling toward General Bryant is a natural feeling, and his appointment to a position that he could fill creditably, was a mark of regard and appreciation, and that no man has a right to question.

The reappointment of Judge Lyon, Judge Gilson and General Boardman removes any taint of unfairness, for which his critics have been so eagerly watching. It is said of Col. Anderson that he was the father of the anti-corporation sentiment on the tax commission board. If by that is meant that he showed a disposition to take undue advantage of corporations, then he should have been removed. If there is any board connected with the administration that demands absolutely fair and unbiased judgment, it is the board of tax commissioners.

The people of the state believe in fairness to corporations as well as to individuals. They haven't very much time for erratic members like Assemblyman Hall, when it comes to positions of responsibility. Hobby riders are so largely in the minority that they are not very dangerous. Col. Anderson may not belong to this class, but that is where his friends are placing him, and the arguments they are using may be doing him an injustice.

Mr. Haugen is recoguized as a level headed business man, possessing the intelligence and ability to faithfully serve the state. He is said to be for the railroads, because he has never made a fight against them. That argument is too thin to hold water. The tax commission is not created to be for or against anything, and if it ever sinks to the level of that kind of partizanshhip, it ought to be abolished. The business of the tax commission is to provide equitable taxation, and it will find plenty of legitimate business for some time to come.

But "Mr. Haugen is an original La-Follette man." What if he is? Does that make him a bad man? The governor would be more angelic than human and more idiotic than either if he failed to recognize his friends when opportunity presented.

If his administration is to be successful he must have men in the executive department that are in sympathy with him, or that at least are not hostile to him. Loyalty to an administration is worth more to good government than all the civil service laws that were ever enacted, or ever will be.

The Gazette is not in sympathy with all of the governor's reform movements, but the paper believes in fair play, and the criticism made on his appointments is unjust.

The United States senate is just now struggling with the question as to whether Senator Towne or Senator Clapp is the legal representative from Minnesota. Mr. Towne, a populist, was appointed by the governor to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Davis. He had a populist's ambition, and on Saturday afternoon introduced a bill for the independence of the Filipinos, and notified the senate that he would speak on the bill later. In the meantime Senator Clapp is elected, and the senate rules that Mr. Towne is out. He will probably have a chance to take his bill and camp out over in Manila. Aguinaldo will give him a cordial reception.

Vice-President Roosevelt has got his second wind. He had a lively experience in his race over the country during the campaign, and distanced Adlai so badly that it filled him full of courage for the race on the plains with the mountain lions. The sport is said to be very exciting. No guns are used, it is simply a question of legs and endurance. The game is run down very much as the country boy used to go out and run down the barn yard hen. When the lion gets tired he climbs a tree, and then the vice-president lies in the shade until he comes down, when they have an argument with a knife and two or three dogs, and the lion usually surrenders. It takes a good runner to catch a mountain lion, but Roosevelt is equal to the occasion, with wind to spare.

The insurance on the life of Queen Victoria, amounting to some $5,000,000, was taken out largely during the past three years, and poor people, generally, are the beneficiaries. By some process heretofore unknown in insurance circles, foreign life companies wrote policies on the life of the queen without requiring examination, and disregarding the age limit. It looks from a distance very much like a donation to the public on the part of the companies as the result of doing business on a sentimental, rather than a practical basis. American companies showed their good sense, by refusing to participate.

RUSH WORK ON GERMAN NAVY

Washington Informed New Fleet Will Be Completed in 1906.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—Word has been received here that rapid progress is being made in building the new German navy, and that all the ships provided for by the naval bill will be ready for service in 1906, instead of in 1916, as first contemplated. The plans now being carried out will add to the German fleet thirty-four battleships, twenty large cruisers and forty-eight smaller cruisers. This information has been received by the navy department, and has been considered by Admiral Dewey's policy board.

The haste of Germany in completing its navy is of special importance to this country, in view of the possibility of trouble between it and the United States, to which representative Foss made reference when the navy bill was under consideration in the house and to which Secretary Root also called attention in connection with the necessity for an increase of the army when he said there was "one nation" that the United States must not lose sight of.

While it is hoped that Germany's haste has no reference to the United States, the government understands the necessity of being prepared, and congress will be urged to continue the policy of increasing the navy. With two battleships authorized in the pending naval bill, the United States by 1904 will have eighteen battleships, which will be less than half the strength of the German navy in 1906.

INCANDESCENT HOUSE LIGHTING.

A few of its advantages are, the ease with which it can be turned on or off by means of switches even from points distant from the lights.

No heat nor dirt is given off and the light readily lends itself to artistic arrangements and decorations.

In the decoration of a home it is of the greatest importance to consider the kind of light we are to use. If you use a heat and soot producer for illuminating, the paper and housefurnishings should be selected accordingly, for light paper, carpets or upholstering will be practically ruined in a short time and lace curtains will be oftener a dingy grey than a fresh white.

Any open flame is a bad thing to have in a human habitation. It is consuming air and that is what we primarily exist upon. As the saying is, "It makes the air bad." Those who breathe it makes them sleepy. Malaria is often blamed for this "tired feeling."

Another advantage is the facility with which it can be installed to produce a better diffusion of light.

The old idea of a group of lights in the center of a room has become absolete. The aim of progressive architects is to so distribute the lights around the room that there will be no shadows cast.

We will always be pleased to consult with prospective leader users about the best arrangement of lights and to give estimates for installing.

Outside connections are made and meters set without expense to customers.

THE PIANO RECITAL OF MRS. SWEENEY

THE CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH PACKED TO THE DOORS.

The Pianist Rendered the Entire Program of the Evening from Memory—Compositions of the World's Finest Musicians Were Most Skillfully Interpreted

A packed house was the kind of an audience that listened to Mrs. John F. Sweeney's piano recital at the Congregational church last night. To say that Mrs. Sweeney scored a brilliant triumph would be but a feeble expression of the delight that her efforts called forth. The most cultivated and critical could find no cause for adverse criticism and the invariable expression was one of the highest commendation.

The concert opened with a selection from Bach St. Saens, a gavotte in B minor, which was rendered to perfection. It was followed by a sonata by Beethoven, that master of musical composition and was full of his best and most characteristic work.

Chopin in three numbers, an etude, a nocturne and a ballad, gave an excellent opportunity for the comparison of the methods of the two composers. The etude was distinctly characteristic of Chopin in the lightness and delicacy of the tone coloring. The nocturne told its own story and was full of the half sad and altogether mysterious sounds of the night. The ballad was light, gay and rapid in movement, representing such a song as might be sung by a happy child.

The Peer Gynt suite in four numbers by Grieg was the favorite of many, as the transitions were clearly marked and easily followed. The second in the series, the Death of Aase, expressed the most profund grief and utter despair. Certainly for the time being the listener felt that the sun would never shine again. This mood was promptly dissipated by the number following, full of dance movement and buoyant life. In the halls of the Mountain King, the hero, Peer, meets a group of super human beings.

The discords expressed clearly the inhuman utterances of these grotesque creatures which appeared outside the pale of mortal comprehension. It was a revelation to many that the piano could produce such sounds.

MacDowell in five numbers presented an opportunity of judging of this composer's style of work. Henselt was given in two studies. Rubenstein's Valse Allemagne was a delightful number, the motive being particularly pleasing. The concert concluded with the Rhapsodie Hongroise, by Lizst, the work of the Hungarian artist best known to American audiences. The rush and the impetuosity of the movement is as good an exposition as could possibly be given of the general idea of Hungarian music.

Mrs. Sweeney played entirely from memory, showing what time and labor must necessarily have been spent in bringing herself to a degree of musical skill. Her appreciation of the delicate shading of the different compostions rendered indicated the insight of the true artist to whom music is able to express thoughts for which words are clumsy and inadequate. Her technique left nothing to be desired and her execution was marked with the keenest sympathy with the thought that she so skillfully interpreted.

The audience was such as is not often seen in Janesville both as to size and quality. Bright colors and handsome faces were the general rule.

Many of the ladies came in opera cloaks and hatless with the hair dressed for an evening function. The ushers, all musicians, or music lovers, were in evening dress and made a picture by themselves.

It was gratifying to note how the applause was given with the idea to express intelligent appreciation and genuine delight rather than merely to make a loud noise. Mrs. Sweeney may well congratulate herself upon having pleased a large and cultivated audience.

DIED THIS MORNING AFTER AN ILLNESS OF SOME WEEKS.

She Was the Widow of the Late Wm. Eller—Came to Janesville with Her Husband in 1862 from Utica, N. Y.—Leaves Eight Children and Thirteen Grandchildren to Mourn Her Loss.

Mrs. Hannah Eller widow of the late Wm. Eller, passed peacefully away at 7:15 o'clock this morning after an illness of some two weeks' duration.

On Thursday last she suffered a stroke apoplexy which caused a paralysis of the left side and left her partly conscious. This condition remained unchanged, and at the hour stated, the soul left its earthly tenement, without the slightest struggle.

Hannah Knoll was born in Saxony Germany, Jan. 18, 1832. At the age of six years she came to America with her parents and spent her early life at Herkimer, N. Y. In 1851 she was united in marirage to Wm. Eller at Utica, New York. Here they continued to reside until 1862 when they removed to Janesville where she has since made her home. Nine children blessed the union, eight of whom are left to mourn her loss. They are William, Charles, Frank, Emma nad Mrs. Frank Douglass of this city and Mrs. M. L. McHugh of Baraboo, Wis. She also leaves thirteen grandchildren and one sister, living at Buffalo, New York. Quiet and unassuming she ever made the comfort of others her first thought, and by her unselfish life endeared herself to those around her and those who knew her best, loved her the most.

The funeral will be held from her late home at 159 Franklin street, on Thursday at 2 p. m.

A SUMMMER SCHOOL AT THE UNIVERSITY

Was Decided at Last Meeting to Open Summer School for Mechanical Practice.

Ogden H. Fethers, of this city, who is a regent of the State University, writes to the Milwaukee Journal, disclaiming any agitation on the question of mines as a possible addition to that institution. He was present at the October and the January meetings, when the subject was not broached.

At the meeting last week it was determined to have a summer school of mechanical practice. This will open the shops and the steam and electrical laboratories to men in actrial mechanical employment, thus offering the opportunities of the University to a class of men who need instruction and who are not in a position to avail themselves of its regular sessions.

Mr. Fethers expects to see great results from this initiative; not perhaps for the first year or two, but in the course of three or four years.

There are in this state several hundred young men engaged in mechanical employment who feel the need and will appreciate the value of the technical instruction that will be given them.

Fifty new books were placed on the shelves of the young peoples' department of the public library yesterday afternoon. This part of the public library is becoming popular with the younger generation and every effort is being made to keep them interested in the work. The record of the number of books drawn out during the month shows a large increase over December which shows that interest is being taken by the young people in the growth of the library.

Impure Water at New York.

The water of New York City is impure and unwholesome. It is suggested that electric purification be resorted to. The cost of purifying a cubic yard of water by electricity is .028 cent. It would cost the boroughs of Manhattan and Bronx $335 daily to so protect themselves from disease by this electrical process.

George Williams, a Beloit barber, who has just completed a term of five days in the county jail for being drunk and disorderly, was brought before Judge Fifield this morning on a similar charge The judge said it was bad enough to have a man get drunk in Beloit, but it was worse for a Beloit man to come to Janesville to make a disturbance. He imposed a fine of $5 and costs, amounting to $6.20 or that he be confined in the county jail until the same was paid, not to exceed thirteen days. He went to jail.

George Schram of Platteville, Wis., was also before the court this morning on the charge of being drunk and disorderly. He claimed he was a bar tender at home, and came here looking for work. INJURED HER SPINE BY A HARD FALL

Mrs. Gray, a Woman From the Country is Succored by Two Janesville Women.

As Miss Angie King and her sister were going home yesterday afternoon they passed a very nicely dressed lady who a few steps further slipped and fell. Miss King went back to see if she needed assistance and found that she was unable to regain her feet. She attempted to raise her whereupon the lady fainted.

This occurred on Milwaukee street where the sidewalk has snow enough at he side to make a soft if chilly couch. Miss King laid her on this and restored her to consciousness with such means as she had at hand, namely, snow.

Mrs. Frank Echlin happened along at this moment and recognized the lady as an acquaintance, namely, Mrs. Gray.

There was nothing to do but wait for a team to come along which soon happened and which was driven by James Scott, whose horse was so spirited that he had only one hand free. The ladies dragged Mrs. Gray, who had again fainted to the cutter and managed to get her in with what assistance Mr. Scott was able to render.

She was taken to Mrs. Echlin's and restoratives and stimulants applied and in an hour or so was able to be taken to her home, two miles in the country. She had injured her spine in the fall, but to what extent is not yet known.

Will Be Represented at National Convention at Boston the Coming June.

The local Y. M. C. A. is making arrangements for an exhibit at the national Y. M. C. A. convention which will be held in Boston in June.

The exhibit will cover the classes already in operation, viz., mechanical drawing, book-keeping, law, penmanship and music. It is hoped that by that date enough will have been done with athletics that a creditable display will be made.

At this early date it would be impossible to say what size of a delegation will go from Janesville, but considerable interest is expressed and probably the local society will be well represented.

PLEADS FOR FILIPINOS.

Towne Uses Island Acquisition as His Valedictory.

AN ORATORICAL ADDRESS.

The Young Senator Criticizes the Administration — Discusses the Charge That Aguinaldo Had Sold His Country for a Bribe—Talks of Accountability.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 29.—The senate turned from the grind of appropriations to listen to a speech which partook of the character of an oration from Senator Towne (Minn.). Since he entered the senate a few weeks ago on appointment of Gov. Lind, the young Minnesota man has had little opportunity to display his talents. As his reputation as an orator had preceded him there was much interest in his speech, which was in advocacy of his resolution for a cessation of hotilities in the Philippines. While discussing events which led the United States forces to the Philippines, Mr. Towne referred with particularity to the charge that Aguinaldo had sold his country to the Spaniards for a bribe. He declared the accusation was "gratuitous in its calumny, when we consider that the official publications of our own government contradict and destroy it." The senator declared that "We were in alliance with the Filipinos, an alliance sought by ourselves, availed of by us for our own advantage and finally to our everlasting shame in the estimation of honorable men, repudiated by us when we found it no longer necessary and when lust of empire had so blunted our moral sensibilities that we could mount from an act of perfidy to the grand larceny of a nation." Referring to Admiral Dewey's denial that he had ever treated the insurgents as allies. Mr. Towne said sarcastically: "I fear the honest sailor's terminology has suffered from recent contact with the nice discriminations of administration diplomacy." Discusssing the acquisition of the Philippines Senator Towne said: "It is not easy to fix with accuracy the time when the design was formed to take forcible possession of the Philippine islands, nor to ascertain the mind in whose 'gloomy recesses' this enterprise of sacrilege and violence first gathered form and pressure. There has indeed been evidenced a disposition by its most illustrious sponsors as if their prophetic souls already trembled at the inquisition of after ages to impute the dubious responsibility to Providence itself. I know not which to admire the more, whether the modesty which disclaims credit for the policy, or the colossal presumption which challenges and betrays the vaunted confidence of the Almighty. No man, no party, no nation can escape accountability for actions by attributing their origin to any other source than human motives and human judgment. The policy of the administration toward the Filipinos must be justified, if ever justified at all, in the forum of the reason and the conscience of mankind.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 29.—The report of the legislative commission which has visited the state institutions was handed to Gov. Durbin. In this the commission—Speaker Artman, Senator Goodwine and Representative James—charges that Mrs. Sarah Keeley, superintendent of the Indiana woman's prison and girls' industrial school, has been guilty of stripping girls naked and flogging them with machine lashes on their bare backs. The report also charges cruel treatment in other ways.

PUNISHMENTS FOR BOXERS.

New Names to Be Added to Death List.

SIX NATIONS CONSULTING.

List of Those Who Are to Die Will Probably Be Completed February 1—United States Will Not Demand the Death of Prince Tuan.

Pekin, Jan. 29.—The ministers representing the six nations which had citizens killed during the Boxer outbreak met yesterday and discussed the punishments they want inflicted on the officials of the towns where the massacres occurred. The result of the conference was that several new names will be added to the list of those whose deaths will be demanded. The ministers could not complete their work because the French representative had not received the details of massacres of French citizens in several places. The ministers will meet again Wednesday. A meeting of the full diplomatic corps will probably be held on Feb. 1, when the list will be completed. Unless the United States changes its attitude, the ministers will not demand the death of Prince Tuan, General Tung Fu Hsian, and Duke Lan. When a vote was taken regarding these three officials the United States, Russian, and Japanese ministers opposed demanding capital punishment in their cases. This does not mean that the ministers are not certain of their responsibility for the Boxer rising and the ensuing murders, or that the ministers have changed their opinion that they deserve death as much as the others, but they are satisfied that at present the Chinese government is not able to inflict the punishment deserved, and that, therefore, a demand for their execution would be useless. It is understood that is the position Mr. Conger took at the meeting. The Japanese have arrested a son of Hsu Tung and Chih Shui, notorious Boxers. Chih Shui is one of the presidents of the board of civil appointments. Their names were put on the list for punishment at the last meeting of the ministers. Reports from the province of Honan say the native Christians there are not molested, but that they are boycotted and suffering considerable distress in consequence.

To Observe Total Eclipse.

Pittsburg, Pa., Jan. 29.—One of the finest equipments ever made for the observation of a total solar eclipse was finished by Prof. John A. Brashear of Allegheny for the Smithsonian institution and the United States naval observatory. The instrument will be shipped to Washington and will be taken to the island of Sumatra for use on May 17. Probably the most important instruments in the equipment will be four photographic telescopes of four inches diameter and eleven feet focal length specially designed to assist the efforts of Prof. Samuel P. Langley to locate intra-Mercurial planets. The lenses have been made to cover a tremendously large field, plates 24 by 30 inches being possible.

Must Not Pay Over Money.

New York, Jan. 29.—Justice Beach in the Supreme court handed down a decision continuing the temporary injunction restraining George J. Gould, Edwin Gould, Howard Gould and Helen Gould, as trustees of the estate of their father, from paying over the income of the portion of the estate belonging to their sister, Anna Gould, Countess de Castellane, pending the trial of an action brough by Asher Wertheimer, a London bric-a-brac dealer, against the Count and Countess de Castellane for $318,000 for paintings and bric-a-brac furnished them. Justice Beach permits the payment of $200,000 a year to the countess for the support of herself and children, pending the trial of the action.

Daniel Sullivan, who had charge of the stock when it reached here, is under arrest at the county jail. The authorities claim Sullivan will make a confession when Sheriff Taylor is ready to listen. According to a member of a South St. Paul stock firm, James R. Stephenson, formerly a justice of the peace at South St. Paul, is under arrest in Montana in connection with the alleged theft of the stock. It is alleged Stephenson shipped the stock.

Poverty Dislikes Meddling Curiosity.

Miss Jane Addams declares that all people should take an interest in the poorer classes as individuals, with the personal interest of the friend and well wisher, rather than of the curious or the meddling.

In Aid of Children's Home.

The George Junior republic of New York has been willed all the lands and buildings in Winsted, Ct., belonging to the late Miss Mary T. Buel, together with $5,000 in cash. The will requests that the association use the real estate as a home for the children under its care.

Inhaled Gas and Died.

New York, Jan. 29.—In a flat in West Thirty-sixth street there died, as the result of inhaling illuminating gas, a woman whose son says she came of one of the most distinguished families of Tennessee. She was Mrs. Anna Terry, the widow of Dr. C. C. Terry, a graduate of the Harvard Medical school and until his death eight years ago one of the most distinguished surgeons in New England. Dr. Terry's death was accidental, his brain having been pierced by the foil of a fencing master with whom he was engaged in practice. Mrs. Terry was found dead in bed. The house was redolent of the odor of gas, and the stopcock in Mrs. Terry's room had been found turned on full. A policeman who was summoned reported the case as one of apparent suicide.

In Janesville

Every Claim is Backed by Local Testimony.

If the reader wants anything stronger than opinions and experiences of his neighbors, what can it be?

Mr. L. Lawrence, of 408 S. Franklin St., engineer at the Janesville Electri Light Co., says;

"Seven years ago I injured my back by falling through a bridge near Afton, into the Rock river. I was on a traction engine, its weight broke through, and the whole thing went into the stream. Since that time my back has ached by spells, sometimes very severely. If I caught cold it settled in my kidneys and if I brought a strain on my back lifting, the result was a bad backache and sharp twinges of pain in my loins I procured Doan's Kidney Pills and after I used them I was free from backache. I am in better health than at any time since falling through the bridge."

"Mrs. Pinkham Saved me from an Operation."

Hospitals in our great cities are sad places to visit.

Three-fourths of the patients lying on those snow-white beds are women and girls.

Why should this be the case?

Because they have neglected themselves.

Every one of these patients in the hospital beds had plenty of warning in that bearing-down feeling, pain at the left or right of the womb, nervous exhaustion, pain in the small of the back. All of these things are indications of an unhealthy condition of the ovaries or womb.

What a terrifying thought! these poor souls are lying there on those hospital beds awaiting a fearful operation.

Do not drag along at home or in your place of employment until you are obliged to go to the hospital and submit to an examination and possible operation. Build up the female system, cure the derangements which have signified themselves by danger signals, and remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has saved thousands of women from the hospital. Read the letter here published with the full consent of the writer, and see how she escaped the knife by a faithful reliance on Mrs. Pinkham's advice and the consistent treatment of her medicines.

Mrs. Knapp tells of her Great Gratitude.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I have received much benefit from using your Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash. After my child was born, blood poison set in, which left me with granulated inflammation of the womb and congested ovaries. I had suffered from suppressed and painful menstruation from a girl. The doctors told me the ovaries would have to be removed. I took treatment two years to escape an operation, but still remained in miserable health in both body and mind, expecting to part with my reason with each coming month. After using one bottle of the Compound, I became entirely rid of the trouble in my head. I continued to use your remedies until cured.

"The last nine months have been passed in perfect good health. This, I know, I owe entirely to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"My gratitude is great indeed to the one to whom so many women owe their health and happiness."—MRS. F. M. KNAPP, 1528 Kinnickinnic Avenue, Milwaukee, Wis.

To the Honorable Board of Supervisors for Rock County:

The undersigned committee appointed for the purpose of investigating the advisability of laying out a highway in a petition presented to your board at its November meeting in the year 1900, would respectfully report:

That the said petition was signed by more than thirty (30) resident free holders of said county, more than fifteen (15) of whom were resident free holders of the town of Magnolia, in which town the highway mentioned and described in said petition is situated; that immediately after our appointment and on the 15th day of November, 1900, your committee gave notice that it would meet on the 13th day of December, 1900, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day, at the house of John R. Gorey, in said town of Magnolia, to decide upon the said application, which notice we caused to be published in the Janesville Daily Gazette for three (3) successive weeks previous to the time so fixed, which newspaper is published at the city of Janesville, in said county, proof of the publication of which notice is hereto attached and made a part hereof.

That pursuant to the said notice and on the 13th day of December, 1900, your said committee met at the house of John R. Gorey, in said town, and due proof of the publication of said notice being made, your comittee proceeded personally to examine such highway and heard any reasons that might be offered by parties interested therein.

After such examination it was determined that the prayer of said petitioners be granted and that the highway therein describe, be altered in pursuance with the terms of such petition, which highway and alteration are described as follows, towit: That certain state road which runs through two (2) towns in said county and as it now lays runs diagonally across the north-west quarter of the north-west quarter of section twenty-one (21) in said towns of Magnolia, be altered as follows, so that the said highway shall lay from a point where it intersects the east line of the said north-west quarter of the north-west quarter of said section twenty-one (21) south of the south-east corner thereof and thence west along the south line thereof to the point where the said state line now intersects said south line.

Your committee therefore respectfully recommends that the alteration in said highway as above described be made, and that portion of said highway as it now lays, which is altered, be discontinued.

Your committee further respectfully report that they have made an agreement in writing with Michael B. Finneran, the owner of the land through which the said highway is laid out, he being the owner of the lands through which the said highway, as now located, runs, which agreement is hereto annexed and made a part thereof.

Dated January 9, 1901.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

ALMERON EAGER,
B. M. JOHNSON,
J. W. QUIMBY.

Report adopted.

Wm. M. Ross, Superintendent of Schools for the 1st superintendent district, submitted his annual report as follows, which on motion of Sup. Barker was adopted.

Janesville, Wis., January 7, 1901.

To the Honorable Board of Supervisors of Rock County:

Gentlemen:—Herewith I submit to you my twelfth annual report, as County Superintendent of Schools for the First Superintendent District.

One hundred and one teachers are required when all the schools are in session, to teach the schools. This number does not include seven high school teachers at Edgerton and at Evansville who hold state certificates and who work under the supervision of the Free High School Inspector.

No persons are teaching who have not had some course of training higher than the country school. About one-half have taken work in the University, the colleges or the normal schools. A majority of the others have graduated from a high school, academy or seminary.

INSPECTION WORK.

During the year I have made 220 visits. I have visited every school at least twice durnig the year, and some of them four times. I usually visit two a day. Occasionally I divide a forenoon between two schools that are near together, but not often.

TEACHERS' EXAMINATIONS.

We have held eight public teachers' examinations of two days each, and three private examinations. One hundred and thirty-seven presented themselves for examination, and 120 secured certificates. None write but those who expect to pass, as the dollar fee to the Institute fund must be paid by all applicants.

We stay at the office on Saturdays unless we attend some teachers' association, institute or examination. We hold our spring series of examinations on Fridays and Saturdays, so as to vacate school but one day where the school room must be used for this purpose. The second series is held during the summer vacation as soon as the summer institute closes.

FURNACES.

Several school houses are now heated by furnaces. Wherever this system has been tried general satisfaction has resulted. At North Magnolia the ordinary stove was placed in a pit beneath the floor. At a recent visit the teacher of the school informed me that less fuel is required to heat the room than formerly. The space previously occupied by the stove is now utilized for other purposes.

Pupils coming in cold can warm themselves quickly and effectually at the register. I advise all districts to adopt this plan.

Consolidation requires fewer teachers. Pupils have a broader acquaintanceship—which is a part of one's stock in trade. The school may be a social, literary and musical center. Taxation is more nearly uniform. Rural delivery of mail is reduced to simplicity during term time. Stores and churches build about the central school, so that many trips to the city may be avoided. Judging from scores of reports that I have read on this subject, I believe that twice as much may be accomplished, in a given time, under the proposed as under the new system, and at less cost.

CONCLUSION.

In closing this report, I can not refrain from expressing my gratitude for the hearty support which has been given me by the pupils, patrons, teachers and officers of our schools.

Respectfully submitted.

WM. M. ROSS.

Superintendent of Schools David Throne presented the annual report of his Superintendent District, as follows, which, on motion of Sup. Smith was adopted.

In all 105 teachers are employed when all schools are in session. Of these twenty-four are employed in the high and graded schools and eighty-one in the common district schools.

During the year ending June 30, 1900, there were granted thirteen first grade certificates, fourteen second grade certificates and 108 third grade. This includes nine certificates granted in transfers from other counties. Twenty-seven applicants failed to reach the required standing.

The annual school census taken during the month of July showed a school population of 3,607. 1,883 were males, 1,786 females. 2,821 of the total 3,607 attended public school for a greater or less period during the year. There are in the Supt. Dist. 1,75- children who come under the compulsory education law, namely, that all between the ages of 7 and 13 shall attend school at least twelve weeks during the year. 1,554 did attend public school at least twelve weeks during the year and twenty-two others attended some private school.

As referred to in last year's report, the superintendents of this county held separate institutes until 1899. That year they united forces and held a joint institute of three weeks' duration in the city of Janesville. So successful was the institute and so beneficial the results that the same general plan was followed for the year 1900. Prof. H. L. Terry, of the Waukesha schools, was assigned to us by the state department as leading conductor, and his salary and expenses were borne by the state. The county superintendents employed Principal A. F. Hollis, of the Brodhead high school, Miss Mary C. Holt, then of the Janesville high school, now of the East Side high school, Milwaukee, and Miss Rosalia Hatheral of Madison. The expenses of these conductors were paid from the county institute fund. The amount paid by the superintendent of the 2nd district was $89.50. The entire number of teachers in attendance was 121. Of these four were males, 117 were females. The regular work of the institute was confined to the work actually done in the common schools. I am inclined to believe that the work done was even more beneficial than in 1899. This was made possible by the fact that the teachers came to the institute with a better idea of what was to be expected as their part of the work. All true, earnest teachers realize that the institute is a practical teacher—school brought to their own doors and paid for in part by their own money. Both county superintendents took part in the instruction work. The institute was inspected by the state superintendent and kindly words of commendation given. We owe our hearty thanks to the institute conductors for their strong, wellin unselfish work, and also to the city school board of Janesville for their generosity in allowing us the free use of their commodious high school building. The institute lecture delivered by Pres. Albert Salisbury of Whitewater, was an inspiration.

During the past year the diploma examination was conducted as usual. About fifty pupils passed the examination and received diplomas.

Last year I referred to the unsatisfactory conditions which governed the examination. The general results of the 1900 examination confirmed the superintendents in their previously expressed opinion, namely, that the examinations as conducted were neither fair nor satisfactory. On Oct. 27, 1900, a body of teachers, representing all grades of work, met at Janesville on invitation of the county superintendents. This meeting appointed a committee of seven to formulate a scheme to be reported at the meeting of the Rock County Teachers' Association to be held at Beloit, Dec. 8. I give in full the work of the committee.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON COMMON SCHOOL DIPLOMAS TO BE PRESENTED TO THE ROCK CO. TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION AT BELOIT, WIS., DECEMBER 8, 1900.

The committee met at Janesville, November 24th, and formulated the following report:

That each teacher or principal of school shall certify to County Superintendent by February 1st, of each year the names of pupils in his school who have completed the work as outlined by the Manual for Common Schools.

That there shall be conducted simultaneously throughout each superintendent district at such points and at such time as the County Superintendents deem expedient, examinations of two days duration.

At each of these points disinterested teachers selected by the County Superintendents shall preside, whose duty it shall be to number the pupils, distribute questions, take up papers, designated by number only, and transmit the same, together with blanks containing names and numbers of pupils to the County Superintendent, certifying that the examination has been honorably conducted.

OVERFLOW SCHOOLS.

At Hanover, Indian Ford, Cooksville, and Magnolia Corners, but one teacher is now employed at each place. All work done in the eight grades in city schools is expected from these teachers and, in addition, pupils are asking for algebra and physical geography.

Three of these schools number sixty pupils each. No teacher can do justice to either himself or to the pupils under such conditions. If the present district system is to continue, provisions for an additional teacher at each of these points should be made.

ELEMENTS OF AGRICULTURE.

Ever since the establishment of the Short Course at the Wis. Experiment Station, we have urged the older boys and young men of the Supt. District to fit themselves for scientific farming.

Every winter a goodly number are in attendance at the Station. Mr. Dodge, of Orfordville, after taking two terms of three months each, was engaged to oversee the finest herd of Jersey cows in the East. He received one thousand dollars and board to start with, per year. Mr. George Little, of the town of Janesville, covered himself with glory by taking the best prizes for expert stock judging.

All graduates from the school are in demand at better salaries than the beginning high school principal, board and other expenses being considered. Last summer, a short course teacher told me that he could place two short course graduates as overseers of large farms. Salary, eight hundred dollars per year, each. Board free. He could not supply them. Farmers, why not send your boys to this school?

INSTITUTE.

Two day institutes for teachers were held at both Edgerton and Orfordville in the early spring. They were held on Fridays and Saturdays so as to break into the schools as little as possible. Friday evening lectures were given at both places.

Our spring institute planned for Evansville in March was indefinitely postponed and later was given up because of scarlet fever in the city. Conductors, teachers and superintendent were on the ground at the appointed time but when all were ready for work the health officers—probably very wisely—decided that the school house must not be opened. The state paid no part of the expense of any of these institutes.

Conductors were paid from the county institute fund.

Beginning Aug. 6, and continuing for three weeks, a joint institute was held at Janesville. The state furnished one conductor.

Supt. Throne and myself hired two more for the entire time and a teacher in agriculture from the Short Course at Madison worked two periods each day for the last seven days.

SPECIAL EXERCISES.

Arbor and Bird day and Memorial day were observed in all the schools. Catalogues containing suitable material for the different occasions were sent to the office from the state superintendent. These, together with circular letters from our office, were sent to the schools.

All teachers are required to send to the office a program of exercises whenever special lines of work are done, as well as a daily program of regular work.

THE NATIONAL EDUCATIONAL ASSOCIATION.

The N. E. A. will meet this year in July at Detroit, Michigan. The railroad fare will be regular one way fare, plus two dollars, membership fee, for the round trip. Many Rock county people should attend this, the greatest educational association on earth. It does not often come so near us.

CLASSIFICATION.

The Welch system of Classification and Reports, which was placed in every country school house in the Supt. district, eight years ago, by resolution of the county board, is still being successfully continued. The retail price is one dollar and twenty-five cents.

When the first contract was made the county got a large discount so that they cost but eighty cents each. Later on they cost the county eighty-five cents each. During the last year about forty dollars was expended for these registers and the accompanying blank reports.

The price paid was ninety-three and three-fourths cents for each register without blanks, or twenty-five per cent. off from the retail price. This, as you see, requires a large share of the stationery and printing fund. Opening term reports are required of the teachers.

The closing term reports give complete classification of all pupils, showing what studies each pursued, with standings in each. What pages he canvassed, and whether he ought to go on or ought to review, and from where, in his books. I also require from teachers a program of study and recitation. The District Board as well as myself gets this information.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETINGS.

School board meetings were held in June.

For Newark township, at town hall.

For Avon township, at Avon Center school house.

For Spring Valley township, at school house, Orfordville.

For Center township, at Center school house.

For Magnolia township, at school house, Magnolia Corners.

For Evansville city and Union township, at high school Evansville.

For Porter township, at Wilder school house.

For Edgerton city and Fulton township, at high school, Edgerton.

For Plymouth township, school house at Hanover.

For Janesville township, at court house, Janesville.

At these meetings the following topics and many others were discussed, viz: "Certificates and Contracts," "Powers and Duties of School Officers and Teachers," "Township Libraries," "Adoption and Change of Text Books," "School House Furniture and Apparatus," Repairs and Decorations of School Houses and Sites," etc.

Every member of the school boards, members of the town boards, the town clerks, and the town treasurers were invited to attend the meetings in their respective towns and help to make it successful.

A half day was given to each meeting. At these meetings we succeeded in getting a good attendance at nearly every point. The numbers varied from twenty-seven at one place to barely two, besides myself, at one.

This year we expect to hold a similar series of meetings before the farmers' rush of spring's work begins. I earnestly desire the presence at these meetings of every town and every school official.

When we are met face to face I shall receive many good suggestions and hope to impart, as a result of long experience in school work, some helpful information to them.

CONSOLIDATION OF SCHOOLS.

For a series of years, as perhaps you all know, we have been telling the people of consolidation of schools in other states and in many parts of this state. Existing laws provide for the system in any part or all parts of the state.

Last summer the people of the town of Center became so interested in this matter that a vote of the people was taken at the General Election in November.

The plan proposed was to dissolve all districts within the town and to adopt the township system. It was further proposed to build a Central school with room for all the grades, including a high school, and to provide for the transportation of children at public expense.

The vote resulted in eighty votes for and ninety-three against the plan. Had seven of the ninety-three been converted to the new faith it would have carried. Some favored more reforms than others. Definite plans were not fully agreed upon, and it is not surprising that the scheme met defeat.

I believe that another attempt, under slightly modified plans, will carry.

Very few tax payers object to their millions of dollars being put into the University of Wisconsin, while only one in a thousand ever attend it. Other state schools cost a mint of money when one considers the small per cent. of our population who get direct benefit therefrom. I find no fault with this, but the country pupil has less than eight dollars expended annually for schooling. This covers the entire expense of teachers' wages, fuel, repairs on school property, apparatus, etc. We do not ask for increased taxation, but for a more economical way of expending what money you do raise.

Economy consists, not in hoarding, but in expending wisely. All agree that you want the most for your money.

We readily recall the time when the majority of farmers scoffed at the idea of co-operative creameries. What farmer today cares to go back to the gravity process of raising cream from milk, and the wife-killing process of making and marketing butter and cheese? If combined capital brings good results to manufacturers of other products, why not apply it to the making of educated children?

There shall be appointed each year by each County Superintendent, a committee of not less than three nor more than five who shall be known as a County Board of Examiners whose duty it shall be to mark papers submitted to them by the County Superintendent.

The standard of attainments shall be fixed by the County Superintendent and the examining board.

The County Superintendent shall issue diplomas to such persons as are recommended to him by the examining board.

The county association adopted the report as given and it will be tried this year with a few necessary modifications. I will say that eight counties are using practically the plan we have suggested and in most cases the expense is borne by the county. The examination boards this year will volunteer their services, so no extra cost will be entailed upon the county. If time permitted I would like to discuss with you some needed changes in our school laws and administration. The best way to get better tools is to strengthen our teaching force. This, of course, means more money for teachers' wages, but it will ensure better schools. Weak districts ought to be consolidated with stronger ones. This will create larger schools, and as a consequence added interest and enthusiasm. It means better citizens and greater opportunities.

Very truly yours,

DAVID THRONE.

S. C. Burnham, from W. H. Sargent Post, G. A. R., appeared before the board and asked the consideration of the petition which he presented pertaining to a memorial building instead of a monument.

Sup. Smith moved that the consideration of the petition be postponed until after the special order of business for 3 o'clock p. m., tomorrow.

On motion of Sup. Bowles the board adjourned until 10 o'clock a. m., tomorrow.

Among the victims of the grip epidemic now so prevalent, F. Coyle is recovering at Canton, O., by the use of Dr. Miles' Nervine and Pills.

W. E. Nihells, of St. Louis, Mo., who was down with grip, is reported much improved. He used Dr. Miles' Nervine and Pills.

Everybody says that J. W. Udy is looking splendid since his recovery from the grip at his home in Des Moines, Iowa. They all know that Dr. Miles' Nervine was what cured him.

At nearly three score and ten Mrs. Galen Humphrey was fighting against odds when the grip attacked her, but she took Dr. Miles' Nervine, and now her neighbors at Wareham, Mass., remark on how well she is looking.

Prosecuting Attorney Charles L. De Waele, who has passed the three-score mile stone, had a time with the grip; but when seen at his home in Roscommon, Mich., the other day, he said Dr. Miles' Nervine was what cured him.

After an illness of five weeks from the grip, Mrs. Harriet Jackson is again about and looking fine. She began taking Dr. Miles' Nervine after the fourth week. Her home is in Bowling Green, Mo.

TO CURE THE GRIP.

Advice of a Famous Physician.

First and foremost, rest.

Take care of yourself. Your already weakened nerves want rest, and must have it. If the attack is severe go to bed and remain there. More fatalities result from neglect of this precaution than form any other cause.

Eat sparingly. Your digestive organs are in no condition to take care of the large quantities of food.

Drink plenty of pure cold water. It alays the fever, stimulates the kidneys to action and opens up the pores of the skin. Keep the bowels open with Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills.

Take three doses of Dr. Miles' Nervine per day, and if you cannot sleep take an extra dose at bed time. To overcome the fever and to overcome the peculiar aches and pains of the grip, use Dr. Miles' Pain Pills. They act quickly and effectually, and no bad effects result from their use. These remedies have been thoroughly tested more than a million times, and their efficiency is thoroughly established. They never fail to give relief.

ST. LOUIS IS FAVORED.

Supreme Court Overrules Drainage Board Demurrer.

Washington, Jan. 29.—In the fight which St. Louis is making against the Chicago drainage canal on the ground that its operation will pollute the St. Louis water supply the United States supreme court has made a ruling in favor of the Missouri plaintiffs to the extent that they are permitted to bring proof of their charges. The drainage board filed a demurrer to the court hearing the case. Today Justice Shiras handed down an opinion overruling the demurrer, which is a minor point in favor of the St. Louis "kickers," but according to the sanitary trustees, merely establishes the jurisdiction of the court to hear the case. A dissenting opinion was handed down by Chief Justice Fuller and Justices Harlan and White.

CREW FASTS THREE DAYS.

One Sailor Goes Mad and All Suffer on Overdue British Ship.

Tacoma, Wash., Jan. 29.—The overdue British ship Castle Rock was picked up by a tug today off Cape Flattery. Officers and crew had been without food for the last three days of their voyage to the Cape, which occupied ninety days from Hong Kong. Fifty per cent reinsurance had been offered. The Castle Rock met a storm outside of Hong Kong and was almost continually in a gale for weeks. Christmas day the flour was exhausted, and three days later the last biscuit was eaten. A sailor became crazy from eating salt meat and was put in irons.

Rosslyn Ferrell Must Die.

Columbus, O., Jan. 29.—Gov. Nash has sealed the fate of Rosslyn H. Ferrell and the latter will meet his death in the electrocution chair in the Ohio penitentiary on March 1. In passing upon the application for clemency the governor said that the jury and the board of pardons has passed upon the case and that he saw no reason for interference. The dangers which might result from lax justice in such a murder as that committed by Ferrell were pointed out, and the governor said he would not assume such responsibility. The application was denied and Express Messenger Lane's murder will be legally avenged.

Five Die in Freight Wreck.

Parkersburg, W. Va., Jan. 29.—A mistake caused by an engineer's sleeping at his post caused a freight collision in which five persons were killed and one was seriously injured on the Baltimore & Ohio railroad between Petroleum and Volcano Junction. The engineer mistook the first section of a passing train for the second and pulled out before his time. The dead: J. B. Watkins, engineer; W. W. Cunningham, fireman; M. Courtney, brakeman; J. T. Bailey, fireman; J. G. Bailey, brakeman.

Begin the Work with Prayer.

Washington, Ind., Jan. 29.—L. H. Creager, who owns an extensive stave and heading factory in this city, today started his fifty employes to work with a fifteen-minute religious service. The Rev. I. I. Gorby, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, has been employed for one month to deliver short sermons every morning, and if the services prove to do good the minister will be kept on the factory pay roll indefinitely. Mr. Creager is a member of no church.

Grip Blinds Doctor.

New York, Jan. 29.—Dr. Frederick M. Nehrbas of Flatbush, has become totally blind from the grip. He has been afflicted with the disease for two months. Dr. Nehrbas said: "I have not given up my practice entirely. I prescribe for some by telephone."

Has Babies to Give Away.

New York, Jan. 29.—Supt. George Blair of the outdoor poor department expects a rush of persons who want to adopt a baby. Mr. Blair has 170 of them in the infants' home on Randall's Island, and is anxious to get rid of them.
